

MURRAY TO SEEK SALT LAKE AID

If Smelters Go, Nevada Ore May Be Turned Away From Local Market.

PETITION IS FORMULATED

WORK OF SECURING SIGNERS TO BE BEGUN AT ONCE.

With the argument that if the smelters are compelled to move on account of the famous smoke decision of Judge John Marshall the Nevada ores may be driven from the local market and thus cause an industrial calamity from which it will take years to recover the Murray Business and Promotion association will ask the co-operation of the Salt Lake business interests in their effort to secure a modification of the decree.

It is pointed out that if nothing is done the American Smelting & Refining company will in all probability decide to remove its smelting operations nearer to the Nevada mines and select a site in the silver state surrounded by sand dunes which would not be damaged by sulphurous fumes. This would be a logical move as it would bring the smelters closer to the great producers at Goldfield and Tonopah and the other noted camps, but at a great cost to Salt Lake and the surrounding country.

It is understood that the large Nevada operators are clamoring for a custom smelter closer to their properties and the Murray people have received assurances that inducements have been offered the American company to take this step by the interested Nevada concerns. The benefit to Salt Lake and the state found in the employment of the smelters of Nevada ores, the outlay of money incident to the maintenance of smelting plants and the attendant traffic runs into the millions and the loss of this business would be seriously felt.

Petition is Formulated.

The Utah Consolidated is seriously contemplating the removal of its smelter from its present site. It is understood on good authority that the directors of the company have set aside $50,000 for the purpose of building a new plant and that a new location is now being sought. The loss of this, the Highland Boy smelter as it is called, is argued by the Murray business men, would not only affect that town but would also affect the smeltering industry of the state as a whole. As this smelter employs the highest class of white laborers, pays the best wages and its employees are among the most industrious and thrifty people in the valley.

Realizing that no time can be wasted, the committee of the Murray Business and Improvement association having in charge the securing of signatures to a petition to the federal court to secure a modification of the smoke injunction formulated their petition today. This is to be circulated immediately among those farmers who are engaged in smelting for the injunction proceedings and it is thought at least three-fourths of these will ask for the desired modification, as many of them went into litigation originally because they believed that the only result would be in compelling the smelters to do all in their power to abate the smoke nuisance and that it would result in driving them from the valley.

Text of the Petition.

To the Committee of the Salt Lake Valley Farmers Association, and to the Plaintiff in the "Injunction Suit" Against the Smelters of Salt Lake County:

We, the undersigned, residents, property owners and taxpayers of Salt Lake county, Utah, respectfully represent:

First—That we are parties to the plaintiff in the suit pending in the federal courts against the smelters of Salt Lake valley, to-wit: "The suit of Godfrey et al. vs. the American Smelting & Refining company et al., and commonly known as the 'injunction suit,' or the 'big smelter suit.'"

Second—That we joined as parties to said suit with the impression and understanding that the principal object was to require the smelters to take care of their smoke, and believing that such a thing was possible.

Third—That we believed and still believe some basis upon which an adjustment of differences between the smelters and farmers could be formed, whereby both could continue to exist and pursue their business without continued and expensive litigation.

Fourth—That we recognize that the smelting industry of Salt Lake valley has involved the expenditure of millions of dollars, and that in the operation thereof hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually distributed to and put into circulation among our citizens.

Fifth—That we further recognize that in the matter of valuations, taxation, and other civic, economic and commercial relations the smelting industry is a general and important factor and must not be lightly regarded.

Result Unexpected.

Sixth—That we did not, when we became parties in said suit, contemplate, expect or desire, nor do we now desire, that the right of injunction should be used with such effect as to require an approximately immediate shut down of this important industry, and thus cause the business operations and unsettled and make all development, improvement and investment in enterprises, and even hazardous, jeopardizing large property interests of Salt Lake county and creating a business stagnation.

Seventh—That we believe that in a matter of such magnitude and importance, a stipulation for further time, under conditions, should be obtained before the enforcement of the decree, unless modified.

Eighth—That in view of all these things

A BANK BOOK FOR CHRISTMAS

A bank account presented as a Christmas gift will teach your children the importance of saving. It will, moreover, make them feel a pride and pleasure in adding to the original deposit from time to time, thereby early providing for their future independence.

If desired, we will place the pass book in a special Holiday envelope that will add to the attractiveness of the gift. We especially solicit small accounts. One dollar will do to begin with.

HEARING BREAK FROM MORRIS HOME LEAVES ONLY ONE LITTLE TRUSTY IN THE INSTITUTION

A carefully laid plot, a daring dash for liberty, and eight boys who were in detention at the Morris home for delinquents in the juvenile court escaped their bonds yesterday afternoon and were free. The skill and sagacity used in putting the plan into execution would do credit to older hands.

The approach of the Christmas season has had the effect of relaxing the vigilance of those in charge of the home. The home is not, properly speaking, a jail, but merely a place of detention. The boys are allowed many liberties, but not absolute freedom of movement.

Yesterday afternoon while Superintendent W. H. S. Westlake was engaged in talking to a shopkeeper who was said to have sold the boys tobacco and while the cook was in the school, the lads, headed by Earl Evans, better known as

"Dugan," made their escape from the school.

Only one lad was left to tell the story. The others had coaxed, threatened and cajoled him in order to lead him into temptation, but he could not be tempted. Finding that this lad could not be induced to leave the home, the other lads skipped without him, announcing that they were going to Los Angeles, where they ain't no snow, an' where oranges grows on the trees all 'th' year 'round.

As soon as the break was made known to the officials of the juvenile court, a half dozen larger boys, wards of the court, were put on the trail of the juvenile freedom seekers. Late last night neither party had been heard from, with the exception of a meager word from Murray to the effect that the first band of youngsters had passed through that town before dark.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mrs. Crandall left a small estate of real and personal property in Salt Lake, valued at $1,800. There are forty-one heirs named in the will.

NO PLAN DECIDED ON.—The committee appointed by the Real Estate exchange to consider plans for raising an advertising fund for Salt Lake, held a special meeting at the new chamber of commerce last night and talked over several propositions. No decision was reached, however, as to how the money will be raised.

DAMIANOS NOW IN JAIL.—Sheriff Clyde R. Nicholson arrived from Portland yesterday with Chris Damianos, alias Chris Anderson in his charge. Damianos is the fellow indicted by the federal grand jury for obtaining registered letters and appropriating their contents to his own uses. He is now confined in the county jail awaiting trial.

EMPLOYEES GENEROUS.—The employees of the Utah Light and Railway company, Wednesday evening presented the former master mechanic of the company, W. S. Patterson, a gold watch and Elks' emblem, and Mrs. Patterson a diamond ring, as evidences of esteem. The men surprised Mr. and Mrs. Patterson early in the evening and after presenting the gifts, participated in a party.

and other of probably equal or greater importance affecting the homes, occupations, our purposes, and our social and economic welfare, we submit that it is wise, and just and proper at this time to make this declaration and that our friends associated with us in this matter, who may not have heretofore as carefully considered the matter, and who may not wholly agree with us, respectfully submit that the immensity and diversity of the interests involved, and the magnitude and importance of the such that men should be wise, careful and conservative; and we as petitioners will ever pray.

An Independent Movement.

Another petition will also be circulated generally throughout the county which will be presented to the farmers' committee. This petition will recite the damage that will be done if the smelters do not remove their smokestacks to do all in its power to secure a modification of the famous injunction. The Murray Business and Protective association, which is the backbone of the movement to keep the smelters, wants it distinctly understood that it has not consulted with the smelters, and that the smelters are not to be consulted in the matter. The action it has taken, said J. P. Cahoon today: "This is an independent movement of a people of Murray, who are deeply solicited by the outcome of the present trouble. We realize that in a degree the immediate future of our little city depends upon whether the smelters stay or not, and we are going to do all in our power to make Murray prosper."

At the office of the company nothing could be learned as to the choice of a successor to Mr. Channing, who resigned the position of manager recently in order to accept a similar position in South America.

Desky's Clothing Sale now on.

AMUSEMENTS

After an absence from the local theatrical boards of over two years, the melodrama, "A Little Outcast," returned to this city and on the last of the evening where the play opened a three-night engagement to a well-pleased audience. The piece is still the same scenic melodrama as of old, except that it is a little more up to date in its plot. In the role of Bob, the newsboy, Miss Ruby Koff is pleasing, and played the part of a spirited maid. The balance of the company are capable. The play runs the balance of the week with a souvenir matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Tonight will be society night at the Orpheum when Bruno & Russell, Leah Russell, Fred Zobelie, the Swor Brothers, Clifton & Klein and the other good turns on this week's bill will be in evidence. The usual matinee goes today.

The sale for "The Illusions of Beatrice" will open at the theatre today.

"Why Women Sin" continues to please large audiences. The play is a spirited matinee will be given Saturday, when each child attending will be given a present.

SPEECH IS POSTPONED

Judge Bowman Talks Briefly to Small Gathering of Students.

A corporal's guard of university students turned out last evening to hear a lecture which had been delivered upon "Republican Principles" by Judge J. M. Bowman.

J. Perry Goddard, president of the students' political study league, arrived but the attorneys agreed to postpone the matter until Dec. 24, and to this arrangement Judge Armstrong assented. The judge said that he would file a certificate of probable cause, and would ask for an appeal. He said that he would not pass upon the matter until he had a bill of exceptions, which was granted. The jury was excused for the remainder of the evening, but the attorneys agreed to postpone the matter until Dec. 24, and to this arrangement Judge Armstrong assented.

COURT NOTES.

The Deseret Savings bank filed suit in the district court yesterday against the Salt Lake Investment company to quiet title to lot 10, block 1, Coates & Corum's addition, in plat C.

The B. H. Townsend company filed suit in the district court yesterday against C. C. Christensen Brothers to recover for merchandise which it is claimed was delivered to the defendants, but was not paid for.

C. R. Greene filed suit in the district court yesterday against the Le Roy House to recover damages in the sum of $1,000, alleging that he was ejected from the premises of the hotel on Dec. 18, at Las Vegas, Nev., where he had purchased a round trip ticket from Salt Lake to Rhyolite, Nev. Greene alleges that his feelings were badly hurt by the ejection.

ARTISTIC MUSICAL EVENT

Local Musicians Appear to Advantage in McDowell Concert.

The concert given last evening for the benefit of the McDowell fund by the musicians of the city was in an artistic sense as fine a production as has ever been given by local talent. The music was well selected, some of the best compositions of the renowned composer being embodied in the program. The program ranged all the way from the dainty lighter sketches to the magnificent sonata "Erlkönig" from Mosart's "Erlkönig," which was played with wonderful feeling and expression by Arthur Shepherd. The four vocalists, each a student of McDowell, showed a splendid interpretation of the wonderful beauty of his compositions.

Highly detailed program with a group of three short songs, "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," "The Beaming Eyes," and "A Maid Sings Light." Miss Aggie Burkhead gave a solo of "Where Stars are Glowing" and "The Bluebell." M. J. Brines sang "Constancy," "Sunshine," and "Maiden Spring," each one a brighter gem than the last it seemed, and Miss Emma Lucy Gates closed the program with a group of four short songs, "Through the Meadows," "Menie," "Long Ago," and "In the Woods," the last finishing with a melodious little ringling the bird notes of the woods into the song.

Mrs. Graham F. Putnam, a former pupil of McDowell and the one to whom credit is due for the success of this winter undertaking, played a half dozen or so little bits, each one a swiftest example of the light touch in his compositions combined with an intense feeling of sadness. They were "Reverie," "Witch," "To a Water Lily," "Moonshine," and "A. D. MEXICO." Only one regret was expressed by the musicians who have worked so hard for the concert, and that was the meager attendance, due to the approaching holidays. J. F. McEllean who was to have given one organ number, was unable to be present.

TELLS OF WORK AT 'FRISCO.

Mrs. Augusta C. Bainbridge Talks to Local W. C. T. U. Members.

The members of the W. C. T. U. held a parlor meeting yesterday afternoon in the Kenyon hotel, in honor of Mrs. Augusta C. Bainbridge, of San Francisco, who is spending a few days in the city on her way west, after having attended the world's convention held recently in Hartford, Mrs. Bainbridge, who was the woman placed in charge of the relief work in Golden Gate park in San Francisco, last spring, spoke briefly on her experience, telling many interesting incidents. Besides her talk, readings by Mrs. Leafy Montgomery, a song by Miss Kathleen Fitzpatrick, and a violin solo by Edward Fitzpatrick, were given. The meeting was attended by a large number of those interested in the work.

PROSECUTION BY JURY

After Ten Hours' Discussion The Twelve Men Reach an Agreement.

PRISONER SEEMED PLEASED

SENTENCE FOR FORGERY WILL BE PASSED MONDAY NEXT.

Arthur Brown is sane. The jury in the district court which tried him on the charge of insanity returned this verdict at 9:40 last night. He will be sentenced on the forgery charges of which he was convicted Monday next.

The trial of the young man covered one full day and nearly half of another in the district court before Judge George G. Armstrong. Nearly a score of witnesses were called by Judge O. W. Powers, conducted by the district attorney, to show that Brown was not in full possession of his faculties when he committed the forgery of which he has been convicted. District Attorney Fred C. Loofbourrow called a half dozen witnesses to show that Brown, regardless of his apparent idiosyncrasies, acted normally under ordinary circumstances.

The last witnesses examined were Ralph Sharkey, Joseph Burbridge, county jailer, and W. C. Orem, Brown's former employer.

Jury Went Out Early.

The jury was charged at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and retired at once to consider the evidence adduced. It was not until 9:40 o'clock last night that they reached a verdict, and Judge Armstrong, District Attorney Loofbourrow, and the defense attorneys, and others directly interested in the case, were notified at once.

Brown Only Smiled.

When the verdict was read, Brown smiled and seemed greatly pleased. He shook hands with a number of court attendants and expressed himself as being delighted with the verdict. Judge Armstrong said that, under the law, the time for passing sentence had arrived, but the attorneys agreed to postpone the matter until Dec. 24, and to this arrangement Judge Armstrong assented.

Judge Powers then served notice that he would file a certificate of probable cause, and would ask for an appeal. He said that he would not pass upon the matter until he had a bill of exceptions, which was granted. The jury was excused for the remainder of the evening, but the attorneys agreed to postpone the matter until Dec. 24, and to this arrangement Judge Armstrong assented.

RAISE IS GENERAL.

An order of ham and eggs has cost thirty-five cents in the better restaurants, but this combination now brings an additional five cents. From twenty-five cents the price had advanced to thirty-five cents in the second-class restaurants. This is an advance of forty per cent. Chicken tamales, which have been passed over the counter at twenty-five cents, now cost thirty-five cents. The same price now holds good on pork and beans. Preserves, which have sold for fifteen cents an order now cost twenty cents, a raise of thirty-three and a third per cent.

There is an advance noticeable in the retail prices also. Eggs are selling for forty cents per dozen, butter for forty cents per pound. Prices on pork, fresh and cured, veal, beef and other common meats, are higher than they were a few weeks ago. The restaurant men held a meeting day before yesterday to consider matters, and admitted that there is one thing, only left for them to do in view of the wholesalers' refusal to grant new contracts at old prices, and that is to raise the prices of their orders.

The motto to be displayed in all restaurants will be, "If we rob you, it's a sign we need the money."

MARKET BARE OF SWEET POTATOES

Scarcity in the Supply of Bananas to Be Relieved Today.

That there will be no sweet potatoes on the local market for Christmas is now the prediction of merchants along market row. The wholesalers have had their orders placed with California shippers for weeks, but on account of the inability on the part of the latter to procure cars in which to ship the sweet potatoes the local market is at the present time exhausted.

The scarcity in the supply of bananas which has been experienced the past three days will be at an end today upon the arrival of a carload from the south. The demand for bananas is heavy and the recent storm on the gulf caused delay in the importation. Another car will reach the local market Sunday, giving a plentiful supply for Christmas.

Cranberries are now plentiful and will so continue until after Christmas, but the general opinion that the market will be cleaned up before the New Year. Other fruits and vegetables are in plentiful supply and will so remain throughout the remainder of the holidays. A carload of oranges arrived from California Thursday and another will arrive today.

CLAIM TO HAVE CARS

Railroads Blame Coal Mines for the Fuel Shortage.

A rate of $10 per car for switching has been established by the Oregon Short Line on the Marysville and Boise branches, to permit resupply of those territories bringing in supplies of wood. The Oregon Short Line asserts that it has cars, and a shortage of coal at the mines, and lack of equipment, is the real cause for the present scarcity of fuel. Salt Lake was not in want yesterday, as the railroads have several thousand tons of coal in per day during the past week. While dealers have no surplus, they are being loaded directly from the cars to expedite delivery.
